

Action required: Dietary supplement listings in Amazon's US store subject to Amazon Policy

Thank you for joining our session today! Please refer to the below resources to help you take action and ensure your products are eligible for sale in Amazon's US store.

It is your obligation to make sure that the products you offer comply with all applicable laws, regulations, and Amazon's policies.

What is required to list dietary supplements in the US store?

To list sexual enhancement, weight management, and sports nutrition/body building dietary supplement products in the US store, Amazon requires a direct verification from one of the third-party Testing, Inspection and Certification (TIC) organizations that your product is compliant with Amazon's policy.

You must use the Manage Your Compliance dashboard to initiate a test request form for each product with one of the third-party TIC organizations that Amazon is working with. Once testing is requested, you'll work directly with the third-party TIC organization to complete the testing of your products. To initiate a test request form to one of the third-party TIC organizations, go to the Manage Your Compliance dashboard and select Add or appeal compliance. The Manage Your Compliance dashboard for Seller Central can be accessed here and Vendor Central here.

Who are the third-party Testing, Inspection, and Certification organizations that Amazon is working with?

At this time, the following third-party TIC organizations listed below have been onboarded to verify products against Amazon's dietary supplements policy. Service providers are subject to change, so please refer to your Manage Your Compliance dashboard the most up-to-date service provider list.
